United Express Service from Montgomery Regional Airport to Houston Begins in April
United Express flights are operated by SkyWest Airlines

Montgomery, AL – Montgomery Regional Airport (MGM) is proud to announce the addition of United Express flights, operated by SkyWest Airlines, with new nonstop service to Houston George Bush Intercontinental Airport (IAH) beginning April 7, 2026.

This new route strengthens regional connectivity and provides travelers across Central Alabama and the River Region with direct access to one of the nation's largest hub airports—unlocking hundreds of one-stop destinations across the United States, Latin America, and beyond.

"This is a monumental milestone for Montgomery Regional Airport and our entire community," said Loyd Jenkins, Interim Executive Director of Montgomery Regional Airport. "The addition of nonstop service to Houston represents more than just a new United Express flight—it's a new gateway for business, tourism, and opportunity in our region."

The new service to Houston expands MGM's flight options for both business and leisure travelers, offering enhanced convenience and competitive choices for those looking to fly local rather than drive to out-of-market airports.

Jeremiah Gerald, MGM's Air Service Consultant, emphasized the long-term benefits of the partnership. "United's investment in the Montgomery market reflects the growing demand and economic potential of the River Region. This route connects Montgomery directly to the global aviation network through Houston, one of United's premier hubs, and strengthens the airport's position as a key driver for regional mobility and commerce."

The route is expected to deliver measurable community impact, including increased tourism spending, improved access for regional industries, and stronger ties between Central Alabama and Texas-based business markets.

"This announcement underscores what happens when a community rallies behind its hometown airport," said Brittney Jones-Dabney, Communications & Marketing Manager for MGM. "From expanding air service to driving economic growth, this new route gives travelers more reasons than ever to choose MGM first. It's a win for local businesses, families, and our entire region."

With this addition, Montgomery Regional Airport now offers expanded options through multiple carriers, giving passengers convenient one-stop connections to major domestic and international destinations—all while continuing to enjoy the ease, comfort, and hospitality of flying local.
